Dear Harold,

Enclosed is a copy of my last letter from Jack. I still have not heard from him. Where ever he is at I hope he is in a warm house. It's suppose to get down to Zero here tonight. We had an unexpected six inches of snow last night. I heard you had Twelve.

I talked to Al about the stoves. He is going to look around and see if he can find a good one.

I don't take Jerry seriously on everything he says. He likes to joke.

Jimmy is O.K. If he does mistrust some People a little I can understand why after the raw deals he has gotten from Foreman, Ass. Comm., etc. If he ever get's a trial I think he will be able to Prove his Innocence.

Hope every one is Well. The Flu has been especially bad here this year a lot of People landed in the hospital with Pneumonia. luckily none of us.

Sincerely,
Carol
